

What practitioners should consider for this year's External Examiners Report 2022

External Examiners

All external examiners have been advised that due to the changing climate with COVID 19 they will need to assess the risk in undertaking external examinations and how best to complete the examinations. Many external examiners will be completing their trust account examinations remotely or via 'virtual' examinations. All external examiners are encouraged to contact their client to discuss how this may work.

If there are problems with being able to submit your external examination reports by 31 May 2022 you are encouraged to email the Board's Trust Account Team on TAI@lpbwa.com.

What can the Law Practice do to facilitate the process?

Discuss process with External Examiner

Contact the External Examiner, if they haven't already contacted you, to discuss how the external examination can be undertaken.

It will assist the process if the law practice completes the WA Law Practice Declaration Trust Money Statements Part A & B, and WA Law Practice Declaration Trust Money Statement Parts A & B.

Look at your records to see what is viable

How are your trust accounting records maintained:

- Manually
- Electronically

How can these be accessed by the external examiner?

- Do you maintain all your records electronically if so, are they accessible remotely.
- Can you provide remote access to the examiner to review.
- If so, do you have the ability to restrict access to view only?

Looking at the broader issues, for example:

- Access to the required records / matter files / supporting documents if required.
- What office equipment is available?
- It is not recommended to mail originals, but consider other secure delivery methods, or scan verified copies and forward as verified copies of documents. In all cases, maintain originals for audit purposes.
- Do you have a secure network or portal in which information can be shared?

What will be needed and in what format do you hold these documents?

- Do you have all your bank statements for trust and controlled money accounts? Are they digital or in hard copy?
- If your records are maintained manually do you have access to a scanner.
- Trust account records include:
 - Trust receipts
 - Trust payments
 - Trust cashbook
 - Transfer journals
 - Trust ledgers
 - Trust reconciliations

Some tasks you can complete in anticipation of the examination?

- Make sure your reconciliations completed and up-to-date.
- Does the trust bank reconciliation have any outstanding items or adjustments? If so make sure they been investigated?
- Does the law practice have any dormant balances which should be investigated? If so make sure they have been investigated.
- Make sure all, if any, deficiencies been investigated, rectified and notified to the Board.

What practitioners should consider for this year's External Examiners Report 2022

- Make sure the controlled money account listing has been prepared for the month.
- Make sure the law practice has up-dated registers for files opened, closed, power & estates, financial interest, safe custody packets and if they hold investment accounts.

While this is not an exhaustive list it highlights the need to look at various aspects specific to your law practice so that you can be able to keep your records updated and have them adequately examined for 2022.
